

Period Ironwork - Reproduction and Restoration

Cole Ironcraft have specialised for many years in high quality reproduction and restoration work.

By using both traditional and modern techniques and materials we are able to provide a wide range of reproduction ironwork to satisfy most architectural needs.

Traditional and Modern Techniques

For Building restorations and for new developments in the more classical style, railings, balustrades or gates of traditional design can provide the "Finishing Touch";.

All restoration work should be sympathetic to the age and condition of the ironwork being restored. A thorough understanding of the original material and method of construction is essential for the success of any restoration project.

A thorough understanding of the original material

Our wide experience in this field has proved invaluable in the many prestigious projects we have been involved in over the years.

Many years of experience